

Cork Environmental Forum - Mission

Cork Environmental Forum is a good practice model of an organisation which adheres to the local features of UNCED Agenda 21, supported by both local authorities in Cork and the Department of the Environment, it has successfully had a key role in:

- Providing a forum to engage in debate on current environmental issues and seek agreement on ways of resolving them.
- Stimulating and sustaining the level of active environmental awareness, concern, care and activity among people in Cork.
- Participating in relevant networks which assist in fostering, promoting and implementing sustainable development.

West Wicklow EN - aims

The aim of WWEN is to provide a platform for individuals & groups throughout West Wicklow with a shared interest in protecting the environment, natural heritage, sustainable development & climate action to come together, communicate, share knowledge & experience, contribute towards policy change at local level and at government level, promote green events & create awareness within West Wicklow.

Leitrim - Statement of Purpose

LLEN Leitrim Local Environmental Networks (LLEN) comprises individuals with interests in a range of environmental issues. The group will concentrate STATEMENT OF PURPOSE LLEN Leitrim Local Environmental Networks (LLEN) comprises individuals with on four main pillars : Environmental; Climate Action; Bio-diversity and Sustainability. The LLEN is an inclusive, non hierarchical community of equals which will provide a space for members to gather and discuss the issues in relation to the four pillars, a place to share ideas and opinions, to create projects, empower, to advocate, to disseminate information. The LLEN will be involved in the local Public Participation Network.

South Dublin - Mission statement

The South Dublin Environmental Network is a network of individual environmental Non-Government Organisations (NGOs) that work individually and, as appropriate, collaboratively to protect and enhance the environment within the South Dublin area. The SDEN works to promote the interlinked principles of environmental, social and economic sustainability, in line with Sustainable Development Goals. In representing the environment the members represent the common good, which is in all our interest. As a network in South Dublin, SDEN is greater than the sum of its parts, with synergies developing from working together and sharing knowledge, skills, strengths and experience. Raising Awareness of environmental issues is central to our mission. Ní neart go cur le chéile.

Dublin Community Environmental Network - Mission Statement

To engage people within communities to make a difference on the ground, while providing knowledge and experience to make further change on government level.

To create a city that provides a healthy environment for humans, plants and animals, contains a vibrant eco-system, and that will guide and inspire other areas in Ireland.

To sustain a network of existing individuals and groups who share this vision.